NovaCart Billing and Payments

Accepted payment methods

We accept Visa, Mastercard, American Express, PayPal and Apple Pay. Prices are shown in US dollars and include applicable sales tax at checkout.

When your card is charged

When you place an order your bank may show a temporary authorization hold. Your card is charged only when the order is dispatched. Authorization holds that are not converted into a charge disappear from your statement within 3-5 business days. A hold can look like a second or third charge, but only one amount is actually collected.

Duplicate or incorrect charges

If you see more than one charge for the same order after dispatch:

1. Compare the amounts with the order total in My Orders.
2. Wait 3-5 business days in case the extra items are authorization holds.
3. If a real duplicate charge remains, contact billing with the order ID and the last 4 digits of the card.

Confirmed duplicate charges are refunded to the original card within 3-5 business days.

Payment disputes and chargebacks

Payment disputes, suspected fraud and chargeback requests are handled only by our Billing Disputes team at billing-disputes@novacart.example. They reply within 1 business day. Support agents cannot reverse card charges directly.

Failed payments

If a payment fails, check that the billing address matches the one on file with your bank and that the card has not expired. Orders with a failed payment are not placed and nothing is charged.

Promo codes

One promo code can be used per order. Codes cannot be applied after the order is placed and are not combinable with other offers.

Invoices

A PDF invoice is available under My Orders after dispatch. Business invoices with a company tax number can be requested within 30 days of the order.
